Three stores to move

Old grocery store split

Minden's Main Street will take on a new look this summer following a number of changes in business locations and ownership.

The first change has already taken place as Minden Furniture has vacated the premises it was occupying on the east side of the street. The business, operated by Ted Madill is now located in the building formerly occupied by Highlands Plumbing next to Cox's Apparel. The move took place last week.

The building vacated by the furniture store has been purchased by Paul Heffer who operates the Minden Drug Store. Starting this week major renovations will begin at the former furniture store. A new front will be added to the building and a partition will be constructed from the back to the front of the building. With a new double door entrance, the premises on the left will be the location of the Minden Drug Store, while the premises on the right, using the existing entrance, will be occupied by Highlands Jewellery and China Shoppe. The Jewellery store is currently located on St. Germaine Street across from the Brewer's Retail outlet.

Mr. Heffer said the new premises will more than double the display space for his store. He said that will mean he will be able to expand the lines of merchandise he is carrying and offer a better selection to customers. The larger store will also include a greater area for the dispensary with a small area set aside for customers who are waiting for prescriptions to be filled.

Heffer said he expected to be moved into the new location by the first of June.

An existing business will close this weekend in downtown Minden, but two will re-open in its place.

The premises currently occupied by Coneybeare's Red and White store will be divided in two with Chris and Al Coneybeare operating a butcher shop from one section. A Becker's Milk Store will open in the other portion of the store.

The announcement this week by store owner Al Coneybeare ends weeks of speculation which began when the downtown Red and White store announced it was closing its doors. The store's final close out ends this Saturday with renovations to begin next week.

The butcher shop will be run in an "old fashioned" style according to Al Coneybeare. In addition to the fresh meat, the new outlet will have fresh and frozen fish, lobster, specialty cheeses and gourmet items. The butcher shop is expected to occupy about one third of the present store area with the remaining portion being taken up by the convenience store.

The Becker's outlet is expected to employ three or four plus a manager. The staff is expected to be chosen from the area.

Al Coneybeare told The Times the arrangement had been under negotiation for some time and that agreement was reached earlier this week with Russell Medyk of the Becker's chain in Toronto.

Coneybeare said both stores are aiming for a May 7 opening.

House numbering assistance rejected

"When the Bell goes to the Canadian Radio-Television Commission (CRTC) and asks for $3000 it is just a drop in the bucket. But when we have to approach our taxpayers in a community this small and ask for $3000, it means a great deal."

With those comments Anson, Hindon and Minden Councillor Ed Pergolas rejected the proposal put forward by two representatives of the telephone company to subsidise one third of the cost of house and lot numbering in Minden Village.

Bill Stephenson and Bob Welch of Bell Canada appeared before the council to explain the company's assistance to municipality's seeking to establish a house numbering system. The meeting was held March 25.

Welch told the meeting the company was eager to have the work carried out so that servicemen could easily identify the homes to which they are called. He said the company used to provide numbering systems for communities at no cost to the municipality, but have since reduced their participation to one third.

The spokesman said a recently completed house numbering in the community of Thornton cost an average of $11 per home. This price included providing the numbers for each of the homes, attaching them, mapping and other details involved in laying out the program.

He said before the company would agree to participate in the program, it required the municipality pass a by-law which would make it mandatory for residents to have the correct numbers affixed to the front of their homes. He said the project, which would be carried out by a contractor acceptable to both the company and the

Snowdon jobs secure; MTC

There are no plans to close the Ministry of Transportation and Communications patrol yard in Snowdon Township, if and when the province agrees to turn Highway 519 over to the county roads department.

That was the reaction of MTC district engineer Don McDonald, of Bancroft, when asked about the future of the patrol yard last week.

McDonald said that while patrol boundaries may have to be adjusted once the trade is completed, the provincial ministry has no plans whatsoever to close the existing facility. The MTC patrol yard is located on Highway 121, in Snowdon Township, just north of Kinmount.

Snowdon Township politicians, merchants and residents have been concerned about the impact the road trade would have on their township. Under an agreement being finalized between the county and the provincial ministry, the MTC would take responsibility for the Vankoughnet Road, currently a county road, while the county roads department would be given Highway 519 south of Haliburton and 519 north of Haliburton to Redstone Lake. The exchange would mean the county would receive a grant from the provincial government to carry out needed upgrading to Highway 519 and would also mean the Vankoughnet Road would become a one hundred series highway.

Since the possibility of the trade was announced, Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick and Deputy Reeve John Francis have spoken out against it. They have pointed out that the southern portion of 519 cuts across their township. They are concerned the level of maintenance would be reduced, that removing the highway from the provincial system would reduce the traffic flow through their township, and that the six employees at the MTC patrol yard in Snowdon would lose their jobs or be forced to move to another location to stay with the MTC.

"At one time we considered closing the Snowdon yard," McDonald stated.

"With the road trade, the patrols which are now being done out of that yard would be too short. However, on taking a second look, we decided instead to readjust the patrol boundaries." This would mean the Snowdon yard would be responsible for enough provincial highway mileage to justify its continued operation.

McDonald stated that the yard would stay where it is presently located and that there would be no change in manpower. "The employees can rest assured their jobs would be secure if the exchange takes place," McDonald said.

He said any decision on how the patrol boundaries would be adjusted would have to wait until the exchange is completed. Once the trade has been made, the ministry will be able to determine what highways the Snowdon yard will patrol.

Councillors enrol themselves in OHIP, drug plan

Members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden township council have approved a by-law which gives them and their immediate families coverage under the municipality's extended OHIP coverage plan and Blue Cross drug plan. The by-law was approved at the March 25 meeting of the council.

The benefit package will cost the municipality about $52 per month for each member of council or more than $600 a year. The coverage is to start in March and extends to the end of the year.

The by-law was passed with no discussion on the part of the councillors.

The benefit package comes on the heels of an honorarium and expense allowances increase approved at the March 11 meeting. At that time the annual stipend for deputy reeve was increased $625 to $3500 while the councillor's honorarium was raised $375 to $3000. The annual rate for the reeve remained unchanged from last year at $4250. At the same time, expense allowances for the elected officials were also boosted with the reeve receiving $250 more at $1000, deputy reeve receiving $750, an increase of $175 and the

From the Chamber pot

by Cliff Hanger

Since Bob (Batman) Stinson moved his Chamber Headquarters temporarily to the Toronto Sportsman Show, Metro Carnarvon Cliffhanger editorial staff has offered to fill the gap felt by Bob's absent column, with some news highlights of the reportable activities around the famous flashing light in the heart of Metro Carnarvon.

Records

The Chamber Pot would first like to correct a typographical error in Bob's latest column.

In his generous coverage, of the release of the "North to Carnarvon" album, Bob's typewriter inadvertently spelled out the price of the album as $7.00. The Chamber Pot would like to announce at this time that the real retail price of this priceless album in only $7.95 each. At press time the Jeff Barry Band reports over 1,100 albums have already been sold!

The Chamber Pot would also like to advise the paper's readers that Jeff's uncle, Val Barry a resident of the famous Barry Line is not a retailer for this best selling collectable. Val says he has only one record and he has only played it 1783 times since he got it three weeks ago and he refused to sell it despite the heavy demand.

Those readers who want a copy of the record before it sells out should take their $7.95 to any or all of the following retail outlets: Chamber of Commerce Minden (not to be confused with the Chamber Pot), Mr. Fogg's restaurant, Foster's General Store, Air Haliburton or Jim McLean, Four Season's Store, Welch's Store, Sir Sam's Inn - Eagle Lake. Cassette tapes are also available at: Mr. Fogg's, Four Season's Store, Foster's Store for $7.95 each.

Please do not phone the Metro Carnarvon Chamber Pot for any information concerning records, or anything else in Metro since we aren't into phone lines, let alone being in-Watts lines, like the real Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber roast next Wednesday

Next Wednesday is the day the directors of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce have agreed to collectively take the hot seat. The directors have organized a "Roast the Chamber" night for April 8 at the PineStone Inn.

The evening was designed as an opportunity for Chamber members to air their beefs about policies the Chamber has followed in the past and directions it should be taking in the future. Bill Payne will act as the moderator for the evening.

The roast begins at 7 p.m. and all members of the Chamber are invited to take some shots at this year's board.

Signs approved for rural areas

Rural residents who operate a business from their homes will now be able to let the passing public know about it.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council passed a by-law which will permit the erection of signs of up to 16 square feet in size. The by-law was passed during the March 25 meeting.

Previously, persons living in the rural area who operated a business were allowed to have a sign affixed to their home. However, the homes were often located some distance from the roadway and so the signs were virtually useless.

The new regulation, which must be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board, will allow the residents to erect one sign on the property where the business is operated. The sign need not be attached to the residence.

Members of council stressed the new regulation applied to the rural areas of the township and will not affect sign restrictions now in force in residential and commercial areas. Ministry of Transportation and Communications regulations with regard to signs along provincial highways will take precedence over this municipal by-law.

New road signs could cost $150

Township officials plan to approach Ministry of Transportation and Communications representatives to see if changes could be made to Minden area highway signs by a painter hired by the municipality.

This approach to changing the signs on the highway came after the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council was informed that the MTC was not prepared to change most of the signs indicating turns to Minden from the Highway 35 by-pass. The letter from the MTC did state that the sign indicating the Minden tourist area and the finger board sign indicating Minden Road 1 would be changed at MTC expense. Any other changes would have to be charged to the municipality and would cost about $150 per sign.

Council has been attempting to have a number of the highway signs changed as they feel too much emphasis is given to "Bobcaygeon Road" rather than Minden, on the signs at the south entrance.

Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard said he doubted the MTC would allow signs other than those prepared by their own staff, placed along provincial highways. During the discussion by the councillors, most appeared to agree that the $150 charge for preparing and replacing the large signs along the highway, was not too expensive. However, enquiries will still be made to ascertain if the council could use its own painter to replace the signs it wants changed.

councillors being given $550, an increase of $25.

The expense allowance is paid to the members of council over and above expenses incurred while attending conventions or meetings as a municipal representative.

Under the extended OHIP coverage, the councillors will have their provincial medical premiums paid and an extra amount for semi-private facilities in a hospital. Under the drug plan the recipients are required to pay for the first $20 spent for prescription drugs in a year then the plan covers the remaining expenses.

township, would likely be completed in two months.

The municipal clerk-treasurer estimated there are 500 homes and vacant lots in the village which would be included in the plan.

Councillor Ed Pergolas questioned whether the township could afford to spend $3000 or more just to have numbers placed on homes.

The Bell representative told the meeting the company was not actively promoting the idea and that they had come to the meeting at the council's request. He said it was up to the council whether it wanted to proceed with the project and whether it wanted the company's assistance in carrying it out. Welch noted that there were a number of other services, including delivery businesses, and other utilities which would benefit from the numbering system, but which have not offered any assistance.

Councillor Pergolas said the offer from the company amounted to the township subsidising the operations of Bell, rather than the other way around. The council accepted his suggestion that the company be informed the municipality did not have the funds to carry out the project.

Memberships

The Chamber Pot has been advised by MCBTWS that the 1981 membership dues of $19.81 are due by the end of March. Those members who have not paid, or anyone out there wishing to join, should forward a cheque (no cash in the mail, please) to MCBTWS, c/o Mayor Ali Hogg, 333 Carnarvon Towers, S 16, Carnarvon KOM IJO, Ontario.

Traffic light

Air traffic report this week from Stanhope International Airport, was light. Considering the time of year, and the runway conditions a lone Cessna 172 circled peacefully in the skies overhead and was last reported heading into the sunset (west)!

Princely presents

MCBTWS advises the Chamber Pot, that considering the common interests Prince Charles (of England of course) & Metro Carnarvon share, there has been a parcel sent to Prince Charles & Lady Diana. After all, he has Caernarvon Castle in his domain.

Rumor has it, that the public is speculating how many duplicate gifts the young couple will receive. Mayor Hogg, feels quite confident that there will only be one Metro Carnarvon Souvenir Package style no. 33A. The gift includes: two Metro Carnarvon Seal Shirts, two seal buttons, one original copy of the Cliffhanger, two bumper stickers and one autographed (by the band, Mayor & Commissioners) copy of the North to Carnarvon album. Included is a personal invitation from the mayor, for the young couple to come to Metro Carnarvon, the Honeymoon Capital of the north!

Commentary

Lotta Gutz (remember her?) was available at press time and of course had a comment for this column. "Let me say this, about that". Thanks Lotta.

More than water "on tap" in Minden

Plans to sell the Minden water reservoir and distribution system to a Canadian beer manufacturing company have been unearthed by The Times.

The proposal, which has been formulated in a number of secret meetings by the municipality's council, followed reports earlier this year that the system, as it is currently being operated, is losing a great deal of money. The plan was meant to be a secret until the closing of the deal, June 31, but this newspaper was able to obtain minutes of a negotiating session held between the company and the municipality.

The system is being sold to Molson's Brewery of Canada for a proposed price of $145,000. The amount would cover the system's current deficit and help to retire the capital cost of the water delivery system.

A beer company spokesman told this newspaper that the reservoir will be used as a storage for beer destined for distribution to the market in eastern Ontario. The beer will be brought to Minden by a fleet of tanker trucks and distributed to selling points in similar manner. A suggestion that a pipeline might be built from Minden to Gelert to connect with CNR rail line has been made. However, a company spokesman said any decision will have to await the deliberations of the Canadian Transportation Commission as to the future of the line.

"It is a totally new concept in beer merchandising," company spokesman Elam Schlepp commented. "We have been able to determine that beer stored in bulk in a reservoir actually improves in taste. We always thought it had to be immediately placed in bottles and kegs, but this is not true."

The spokesman said the new facility should employ six people who will be involved in loading and unloading activity and quality control. "We will have to build a dome over the reservoir," Schlepp commented, noting that the facility is located in a wooded area of Minden where leaves and other debris could land on the surface.

As to the fact the system has become the main source of water for many residents in the village, Schlepp told The Times these people will be allowed to remain connected, although they will get beer when they turn their taps, not water. "Naturally, the rates will have to be increased," he stated, "but I think many people will find that our charges will not be much above those being proposed by the present council."

The spokesman cautioned that the water lines which now connect with heaters to provide hot water will have to be closed. "Hot beer, a new taste we have yet to perfect, but are working on, can be a very dangerous substance, particularly in a sealed container."

"Of course those people who do not wish to receive beer 'on tap' at home," Schlepp chuckled, "will be able to disconnect from the system. We don't expect many of these and in fact have already received inquiries from surrounding communities about the possibility of extending the existing system. This of course is sometime in the future."

A diver for Molson's checks the condition of the Minden reservoir prior to purchase.

Asked about the legality of this proposed method of distributing beer the spokesman said the company has been made aware of a little-known provincial statute which permits beer to be sold in this manner as long as the product remains in a sealed container until it reaches the home of the consumer. "The existing water mains qualify as 'sealed containers' according to experts in our legal department," Schlepp commented.

"We anticipate some legal wrangling before all the wrinkles can be ironed out of this idea," Schlepp told The Times. He also admitted that this is in fact a 'test case' in the province and could lead to similar systems being installed elsewhere.

All members of the municipal council appeared surprised that The Times had learned of the plan and all refused comment on the matter. There was some indication that a statement would be issued but it isn't expected until later this week.

Schlepp stated that his company would soon be opening an office in this community to take applications from those wishing to connect to the system. "We hope to be able to start delivering our product soon after we take-over," Schlepp said.

At least one resident of the community, who refused to be identified, seemed amused by the proposal. Commenting while being interviewed at the post office yesterday, the citizen stated, "I find the idea particularly interesting but I don't think the system would work. As a matter of fact, I think your readers would be well advised to check the date at the top of this page before getting in a store of pretzels."

School budget up 13%

County residents can expect to be paying at least 13% more in education taxes this year.

The increase was contained in the Haliburton County Board of Education budget made public last month. The school board will be spending $5,934,000 to educate 1995 children in the system that stretches from Dorset in the northwest to Cardiff in the southeast.

Salaries continue to take up a major portion of the school budget with close to 67% being allotted to that sector. An exact figure for payrolls has not been announced as the board is continuing its negotiations with the teachers and the contract has not been set. The board also recently reached an agreement with members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, employed at county schools.

One area of increased expenditure this year will be special education services. The Ontario government has enacted legislation forcing school boards to provide certain services to students with special needs. As this program is implemented, including assessment procedures, the costs will increase. The board will also be drawing on the services of outside experts, such as a physiotherapist from Peterborough and the curator at the Rail's End Gallery, to assist in this area.

The school board will also be undertaking a number of major renovations to two schools in the county this year. Both the Minden and Cardiff schools will require new roofs. Jim Leworthy, business administrator for the board, commented that these problems had been put over for a number of years, but that they could no longer be ignored. The board also plans a number of painting projects at various schools.

Leworthy noted that the provincial grant for the school board was just announced and amounted to 9.6%. However he pointed out that the board may not be able to take advantage of all these funds as some apply to programs which the board does not have or which have already been implemented. Since the province's contribution was still uncertain, he was unable to indicate the exact amount each township would be required to contribute to the education budget.

One notable reduction in expenses came in the honourarium paid to members of the board. It was a reduction that was forced upon the members through the lowering of enrolment figures.

Through provincial legislation, trustees are paid an honourarium based on the number of students in their system. Since the student population in the county slipped below 2000 this year, the trustees will be receiving only $100 per month as opposed to the $200 per month.

100 sap buckets taken from bush

A maple sugar operation run by residents of a number of Browndale homes in Stanhope Township was robbed of 100 buckets last week. The theft took place sometime during the night of March 25-26.

Police report that the buckets and an axe were removed from the bush north of the airport in the township. The material was valued at $150.

According to a spokesman for Browndale, William Barber, the bush was being operated by the residents who tapped the trees, gathered the sap by hand, assisted with the boiling, bottling and sale of the syrup through area stores. He described the project as a learning experience designed to acquaint the youngsters with all aspects of syrup production.

Barber said the theft did not put an end to the project but they were able to continue using old buckets. He said the organization would be unable to replace the missing containers this year.

The matter is being investigated by Constable Bill Clendenning.

Public ignored

Members of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council voted last week to include themselves in the OHIP and Blue Cross medical and drug plans available to the municipality's employees. The benefit package was contained in a by-law passed without a formal reading or any discussion on the part of the councillors.

The cost to the taxpayers for these benefits will be over $600 per councillor per year. Just two weeks earlier all members of council voted increases in their annual honoraria and their expense allowances. Those increases amount to $250 for the reeve (the honorarium for this position was raised last year); $800 for the post of deputy reeve; and $400 for councillors. The benefit package will add more than $600 to the increases the councillors have already voted for themselves.

The inclusion of the members of council in the township's OHIP and Blue Cross coverage program is bothersome for a number of reasons:

- first of all the question of members of council being included in the packages has never been debated in public. At no time have the taxpayers been given an opportunity to voice their opinions, to object or concur with the action being taken. Indeed, the by-law under which the benefits were extended to the councillors was not even fully read aloud at last Wednesday's meeting. Reference was simply made to by-law 81-22 and a motion adopting the provisions was passed.

- we are bothered by the fact that the benefits included in this package extended beyond the individual members of council to their immediate families. The voters in these townships elected five individuals to represent them at the council table. It is only right that these people should expect, within reason, to be compensated for the time and effort they expend on behalf of the township. But we do not believe the remuneration should include those who are not involved with the operation of the township's business.

What is a councillor's time worth? It is a hard question to answer and not one we propose to deal with here. Certainly in most cases the elected individual puts more into the position than he'll ever hope to receive in return monetarily.

On the other hand, a seat on municipal council is a position sought voluntarily by an individual. It is at best a temporary position. We feel the perks of OHIP coverages, Blue Cross medical and drug plans should not be considered part and parcel of the job, although admittedly, the Ontario Municipal Act does permit it. Certainly, if the councillors feel they deserve it, they should be willing to discuss the matter publicly and give the electors an opportunity to say whether these benefits should be included in the awards of the job. The citizens of the municipality deserve to be heard before such perks are endorsed by the very people who will benefit, not simply ignored as they have been in this instance.

Raspberry from a fungus.

Smile, its spring.

Commentary from Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists.

Perhaps no creatures have been more unfairly maligned through history than the bats. Their ancient association with the supernatural and the forces of evil may have been dispelled, but most of us still feel a vague repulsion about these shadows of the night. Even Shakespeare perpetuated the mythology in his famous recipe for witches brew - "Eye of newt and toe of frog, Wool of bat and tongue of dog."

But in fact bats are useful and quite unique creatures. Their specialized wings, which are actually leathery skins stretched over elongated finger bones, make bats the only flying mammals. And their sophisticated sonar system, which pinpoints flying insects even in total darkness, is a superb adaptation for night-time activities.

Ontario has eight different species of native bats. Five of these traditionally hibernate in colonies within natural shelters such as caves, or in man-made sites such as attics. In parts of northern Ontario, abandoned mine shafts have also become important roosting sites, and therein lies an encouraging tale of enlightenment and cooperation.

For reasons of public safety, the Ontario Ministry of Labour had instituted a program of sealing off these old mine shafts, unaware that in some cases this caused a problem for bat colonies. But when informed of the conflict by staff of the Royal Ontario Museum and F.O.N., the Ministry staff involved were immediately cooperative, and passed on the request to one of the companies involved. As a result, the entrance of an old shaft of the Caland Ore Company in Atikokan now sports a heavy steel grate, rather than the usual complete blockage. The grate allows access to the bats but not to human visitors, ensuring the future of a secure haven for the bat colony.

This particular example is especially significant since the Atikokan site is the first known over-wintering roost for the Big Brown Bat in northern Ontario. In any case, both the company involved and the Ministry of Labour deserve a pat on the back for their concern for wildlife conservation. It is to be hoped that other mining companies with similar bat colonies will follow their lead.

Tackling the chain stores

By W. Roger Worth

Unless changes are made, the family-owned neighborhood grocery store may go the way of the do-do bird.

Consider the differences in the regions: In Atlantic Canada, chain supermarkets held 55% of the market in 1980.

In Western Canada, the chains control about 65% of the market in British Columbia and Alberta, 58% in Saskatchewan, and 68% in Manitoba.

Roger Worth is Director, Public Affairs, Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

In Ontario, the supermarket chains held a whopping 75% of the market in 1980.

To independent grocers, these figures are downright depressing, particularly when the share of market held by chain stores has risen strikingly in many provinces.

Yet Quebec's independents are tackling the chain stores head on, and winning.

In that province, the chains hold only 40% of the market, down slightly from the previous year.

One reason: the Quebec government has supported independent grocers by allowing them to sell a selection of beer and wines, thus offsetting some of the buying power and advertising advantages held by the large chains.

Even the supermarkets in Quebec are complaining that wine sales provide a drawing card for independents, and the competition is causing them trouble.

In Ontario, where the chains hold 75% of the market, the opposite is happening. The province has allowed wine to be sold in more than 30 kiosks attached to supermarkets, providing a drawing card for the chains, rather than the independents.

Meanwhile, British Columbia is seriously considering beer and wine sales for independents, and many other provinces are discussing the issue.

As the Quebec situation indicates, wine sales for independent grocers could help save the smaller stores from extinction.

Bob Cowan still uses the old ways

by Belinda Brown

While maple syrup producers in Haliburton County search for new and modern methods to produce their sweet product, Bob Cowan of Carnarvon still uses the tried and true methods that he has known since his early days. He claims the old ways still deliver the best syrup and to taste his final product leaves little doubt of that contention.

Bob is a Haliburton County native in the true sense of the word, being born on the Cowan homestead in 1911 on a hill overlooking the community of Carnarvon. The home also commands a view of three area lakes and is one of the prettiest spots in the county.

This time of the year finds Bob tending his stand of 50 sugar maples, stoking the fire and drawing off the sweet syrup. It wasn't that long ago that Bob and his father collected sap from nearly 500 trees, loading the water liquid on sleds pulled through the bush by horses.

He remembers his mother using syrup and maple sugar in her daily cooking and baking, much as the modern housewife would add a cup of white sugar. In those days, he recalls, the recipe books contained many items that called for maple sugar.

His wife Grace still cooks with maple sugar. She helps with the boiling of the sap and has a recipe which she saves for special occasions such as weddings or Christmas. It is a lovely moist cake that is made that much more special with the unique sweetener.

While syrup production is down a great deal from when he was tending 500 trees, Bob still makes enough to satisfy his own needs, have some left over for relatives and close friends and a few regular customers.

Bob Cowan is a man of the seasons. That is what one would expect from someone who spent most of his working life out of doors. He knows how to coax the most out of nature in spring, summer and fall.

During the summer months his garden provides enough vegetables to see him and his wife through the winter. What isn't consumed fresh from the plot is frozen, canned or stored in the root cellar. He also keeps a few animals, watching over them as a father. Spring is a particularly exciting time of the year as new arrivals make their appearance on the farm.

Bob is a quiet man. He has learned to accept both the good and bad from life with quiet reserve. His pleasures are simple.

He has since moved from the old homestead but continues to use the skills his father taught him, skills that in their time, fed their family of 13. Now, as a new season dawns, he is often joined by his grandchildren Tami and Caley, showing them the old ways of finding sweetness in the tall and stately trees of the Haliburton Highlands.

Bob Cowan still relies on the proven methods of sap collection and syrup production.

MOE backs by-law

The municipality will have the backing of the Ontario Ministry of the Environment when it attempts to prosecute a local hotel owner for a noise by-law violation.

A representative of the ministry wrote to by-law enforcement officer Dick Schell offering the assistance. The letter, read at the March 25 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council, said a representative of the ministry would be willing to attend the trial, "to bring this matter to a successful and speedy conclusion."

The letter refers to a charge laid against the Rockcliffe Hotel in the summer of 1979 alleging the owners allowed excessive noise to be created. The matter has come before the provincial court judge on a number of occasions since then. The new trial date is June 2.

Fifth Festival of Fun

On Thursday, April 9 (7:15 to 9:30 p.m.) the Boy Scouts' Movement of Carnarvon and Haliburton will hold the 5th FESTIVAL OF FUN at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Each year an effort has been made to involve as much local talent as possible within one evening. This year many of the performers will be in the Festival for the first time. Included in this year's Festival will be individual and duet singing, choirs, piano solos, various bands and a musical skit.

The Festival itself is a special Haliburton County event, in that it brings together Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and many talented residents of all ages, in an evening of good entertainment and fun.

Since all performers are providing their services without a fee, there will be no admission charge. However, a collection will be taken and refreshments will be sold. All proceeds will go to the Haliburton Chapter of the Ontario Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

Search on for modern methods of syrup making

Maple syrup producers are testing three new types of technology this spring to find ways to keep the lid on rising production costs.

The new technology is aimed primarily at reducing fuel costs, which make up a substantial proportion of production costs," says John Butler, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food maple syrup specialist. "It takes three to four litres of oil to produce one litre of syrup."

One innovation being tested is an economizer evaporator. This unit, developed at the University of Waterloo, is expected to double the fuel efficiency of the evaporator. To evaporate the sap, the system uses waste heat from the steam that is normally vented outside. This reduces the need for costly fuel. A prototype is being farm tested near Waterloo. The project is funded by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food and the Ontario Maple Syrup Producers Association.

Another innovation being tested is a reverse-osmosis machine that concentrates the sap. By filtering the sap through a semi-permeable membrane, this system can remove up to 75 per cent of the water from the sap without using heat.

"This system is expensive to start with, but it uses almost no energy," says Mr. Butler. "It can reduce energy costs by 65 per cent and could pay for itself in three or four years."

Two producers in Ontario are working on vacuum evaporators. Although vacuum evaporators are used to produce condensed milk, tomato paste and catsup, the concept is relatively new to the maple syrup industry.

Placing the boiling material (sap) under a vacuum can reduce the boiling temperature from 100 degrees C (212 degrees F) to approximately 57 degrees C (135 degrees F). The system can operate on energy generated by the waste heat for a 50 per cent energy saving.

Only a few of Ontario's 2000 producers are involved in testing these sophisticated new techniques. However, these systems are becoming more practical as production costs continue to accelerate.

The spile and the bucket may soon be a thing of the past.

Council questions building methods

Questions about the methods used to construct the Minden Library were raised once again at the March 25 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council.

Reeve Lloyd Walker stated that the copper flashing which has recently been installed around the base of the bottom log will have to be removed. He said the copper has formed a trap which will catch water rather than shield the logs from the water. The reeve also commented that while the caulking which has been placed in seams and under the base log may give a proper seal at the moment, it could be broken in a year or six months. "What are we going to do then?" the reeve asked.

Councillor Ed Pergolas said that before the council did anything else to the building, they should have an expert in to assess the work so far. He said if a dispute arises later with the contractor, 1867 Confederation Log Homes, the municipality would have a basis for withholding payment.

During the same meeting the council approved the awarding of a contract for floor covering for the new facility. The bid submitted by Caballero Carpet Installers of Minden for $5059 was accepted. A second bid was received from Haliburton Lumber for $5489.

The flooring, a portion of carpeting and a portion in tile, will be installed during the first ten days in June.

Guild awarded grant

The Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts has been awarded a grant by the Ontario Arts Council. The Guild will be receiving $3,000 from the provincial organization.

The grant was one of a number announced and includes the distribution of $1,842,000 to 513 individuals and 237 organizations. A jury selected by the Ontario Arts Council, assigned the grants to various groups and individuals.

Correction

An article, appearing in last week's edition of The Times, concerning an application to open a hair dressing facility in Lutterworth Township, inadvertently stated the business would be located in the Lutterworth Estates. The proposed business, which the township council is still considering, was suggested for the area known as Lutterworth Pines.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Not too much news this week. Not in our neck of the woods. Lovely week and weekend. Sure feels nice to have the temperature over 60.

Bill Roodenburg and daughter Cindy spent a couple of days in the Ottawa area visiting relatives, last week.

Anne and Lisa Dunsford spent the winter break with the Wilson's in Ajax.

Bruce and Bernice Lacey with Fred and Irene Graham and their two children, Kim and Jeff, from Peterborough, spent Sunday with us.

Also up, were Jim and Jo Oatman with their two children, Joshua and Crystal, from Shelburne.

Major Lewis spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mrs. Lillian Porter had her sister Mrs. Ann Peever and a friend down from Englehart on the weekend and drove her mother, Mrs. Jean Johnson, home after having a lovely visit here.

Also up visiting Mrs. Porter for the weekend was her daughter Norma Melenchuck from Oshawa.

Freda Harrison, Lil Porter and Vera Ward went to visit with Mrs. Ward's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark in Wilberforce. While there they visited the maple sugar bush which they enjoyed very much and brought back some lovely fresh maple syrup.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Brown had their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Slosser with their children, visiting for the weekend, from Newmarket.

John and Freda and David Hulbig went to Toronto to visit John's sister Myrtle.

Recipe of the Week

Impossible Pie

4 eggs
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup margarine (or less)
2 cups milk
1 cup sugar (white)
1 cup coconut
2 teaspoons vanilla
pinch of nutmeg (if desired)
Mix all ingredients thoroughly in a blender or by hand. Pour mixture into a greased square cake pan. Bake at 350 F degrees for approximately 1 hour, until centre tests firm. The flour will settle to form a crust, the coconut forms a topping and the centre is an egg custard filling.

One reason you can't take it with you is that it goes before you do!

Kids Korner

Well kids, you are now back to school, I hope you enjoyed your winter break and are all set to go for the next term of school.

Has anybody seen my mouse?

I opened his box for half a minute, Just to make sure he was really in it, And while I was looking, he jumped outside! I tried to catch him, I tried, I tried...

I think he's somewhere about the house. Has anyone seen my mouse?

Uncle John, have you seen my mouse?

Just a small sort of mouse, a dear little brown one, He came from the country, he wasn't a town one, So he'll feel all lonely in a London street; Why, what could he possibly find to eat?

He must be somewhere. I'll ask Aunt Rose: Have you seen a mouse with a woffelly nose? Oh, somewhere about -- He's just got out...

Hasn't anybody seen my mouse?

What did the angel say to another angel?

Halo there!

What do you get when you cross a goat with a porcupine?

A kid that's hard to handle.

Knock, Knock, Who's there? Ether.. Ether who? The Ether bunny.

Knock, knock, Who's there? Cargo... Cargo who? Cargo beep, beep, run over Ether Bunny.

Knock, knock, Who's there? Boo... Boo who? Don't cry, Ether Bunny alright.

What's the best way to catch a fish? Get someone to throw it to you.

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

You can lighten some load, or some progress impede, You can look for a rose, or just gather a weed. What did you do with your beautiful day? God gave it to you! Did you throw it away?

We have read many books written by famous Hockey Players and their troubles and successes. This past while we have been reading the biography by Referee Vern Buffey and this gives a different light on things. We are including this verse which was written by who else...his mother.

I think that I shall never see A satisfactory referee. About whose head a halo shines, Whose merits rate reporter's lines, One who calls them as they are Not as the fans might wish by far.

A' gent who leans not either way But lets the boys decide the play; A guy who'll sting the coach who yaps From Vancouver Isle to Halifax. Poems are made by fools like me But only GOD could referee.

CASH IN

on Your Slot Machines
A lot of people enjoy old fashioned slot machines as I do, and some even saved them over the years. Perhaps you have one at your home, or at your club, or know where some might be. I'm a slot machine collector and I pay good money for them, no matter what condition. WRITE: Russ White 39 Parkcrest Dr., P.H. 2 Scarborough, Ont. OR CALL 416-278-3275

NOTE OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation for all the help we have received since the fire destroyed our home.

It is difficult to believe that there are so many people who could think of so many ways in which to assist - those who expressed concern and well wishes, those who sent money, food, toys, clothing and who babysat our boys. There was a lovely shower at the United Church and a terrific dance at the arena for our benefit. We are receiving offers of furniture, appliances, dishes and bedding, etc. to help set up housekeeping again.

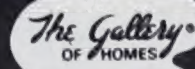

We want to share the knowledge of our good fortune and misfortune, because it is heartwarming to know that there is so much kindness in our community. We will remember and return these kindnesses in the future.

Now, with all our family and friends behind us, we can't help but make a success of establishing a new and happy life.
Thankyou.
